

Unique Back to School Kick-Off Ideas

KICK THE YEAR OFF IN STYLE

Welcome your teachers back to school with an interactive teambuilding session. CMI has developed 3 customized events specially formulated for school staff. These programs have proven to enhance communication, collaboration and trust amongst staff. This will also benefit the students. Please click here to read about our work with the staff at Elm School in Elmwood Park, IL as well as our work with Youth Leadership Academy in Elgin, IL.

A "Get to Know You" Session

This event will give the group an opportunity to get to know each other. We will incorporate various Get to Know You questions that will help the team members get related to each other in a new way. We can also utilize the DiSC Indra® Personality Profile. This instrument is designed to pinpoint individuals' differences and provide insight about how to work effectively together. It provides actionable insight into the dynamics of groups. This session will also integrate employees' job duties and responsibilities and get the entire team to understand and appreciate how everyone contributes to the team. This is a great way to kickoff the school year.

Building A High Performance Team

This session will allow the group to explore ways they could better work together. Common topics of interest include communication, trust, and support. What is unique about the session is that it will use the participating group as its model for improving the school team. One can expect participants to grow and develop in their ability to work together and collaborate in groups. This session will provide a forum from which individuals can view and assess their own behavior regarding teams and teamwork. The group will then be able to learn, practice and improve in their ability to create high performance work teams.

Living our Vision and Values

As a group, we will review your school's Mission Statement, Core Values and Vision. We will do exercises and activities where we will demonstrate what it means to live the school's vision and values through our daily actions and interactions with one another and our students.

We are more than happy to provide you with school references. Call us today at 800-883-7995 to book an event for your school.
